Verdict — gold is trading as a rates asset, not a fear asset

War headlines currently price as inflation / hike-odds events: gold printed its weekly low (~$4,030) on the day the US declared the Iran ceasefire over. With 9 of 18 Fed dots projecting a 2026 hike, the rates channel overpowers the fear channel. Fade escalation-driven pops into 4,135–4,145; de-escalation is — counterintuitively — the bullish headline.

Regime monitor — how war news moves gold right now

Driver	Current behaviour	State
War / Hormuz news	Escalation sells gold; de-escalation lifts it — inverse of the textbook haven trade.	NEGATIVE
Real yields (10Y TIPS ~2.26%)	Primary 2026 headwind; gold lagged all H1 as hike bets rose.	NEGATIVE · DOMINANT
DXY (~100.9)	Standard inverse, mild near a 3-week low.	NEGATIVE · MILD
Central-bank buying (+41t May)	Official bid cushions dips regardless of regime.	POSITIVE · FLOOR
Regime flip triggers	Fed turns dovish / real yields roll over / US assets hit directly / broad equity risk-off.	WATCH

FOMC June minutes (released 8 Jul) — key points and gold impact

Point	Detail	Gold impact
Unanimous hold	Funds rate kept at 3.50–3.75%, unchanged all of 2026.	NEUTRAL
9 hawkish dots	9 of 18 project ≥1 hike before year-end; 8 no change; 1 cut.	BEARISH
Upside inflation risk	Tariffs, energy, Hormuz disruption — named the core conflict.	TWO-WAY
AI price pressure	AI infrastructure demand keeps tech & electricity prices firm.	BEARISH
No forward guidance	130-word statement; every meeting is live.	VOLATILITY
Market verdict (Jul 8)	Gold broke 4,100 and 4,075–4,080 within hours of release.	BEARISH CONFIRMED

Geopolitical monitor — 2026 Iran war · Strait of Hormuz

Event	Read-through	Tag
Ceasefire declared 'over' (Jul 8)	US strikes after 3 ships hit in Hormuz; oil +6%. Haven bid failed — the oil spike fed yields; gold made its low on the news.	BEARISH VIA YIELDS
Hormuz chokepoint under fire	Qatari LNG tanker struck on day 20 of the truce; ~20% of oil/LNG flows at risk. Inflation impulse lifts yields faster than the fear bid.	TWO-WAY, NET BEARISH
Islamabad Memorandum at risk	60-day negotiation window in jeopardy. De-escalation is the gold-bullish tail in this regime.	TWO-WAY
Khamenei funeral (reported)	Succession unclear — miscalculation risk, headline-sensitive.	UNCERTAINTY
Central-bank buying	+41t net in May (WGC); capped June's slide near 3,942.	FLOOR

Intraday scenarios — with reasoning

Bull — de-escalation + yields rolling over: Doha talks revive or the strait reopens → oil down, hike odds fade → reclaim 4,145 → 4,171 → 4,200. Invalidation: 15-min close back under 4,135.

Bear — fresh escalation + hawkish Fed: strikes lift oil and yields together; knee-jerk pops into 4,135–4,145 are supply. Path: 4,105 → 4,075 → 4,030. Invalidation: hourly close above 4,171 on falling yields.

Chop — both engines fire: whipsaw 4,100–4,171 with poor follow-through; trade the extremes, size down around US data.
